Dr Alain Gondinet
(M.D.), 78770 Thoiry, France

Regen Lab filler technique is based on injection of Autologous Platelet-Rich Plasma (A-PRP) combined with Autologous Thrombin Serum (ATS) into dermis or hypodermis. The aim of this procedure is to fill a depression and reach a volumetric effect by constitution of a dense fibrin mesh that will be substituted by a new tissue.

Treatment:

I) filler injections : 5 syringes of 1 ml (mix of 0.1 ml of ATS with 0.9 ml of A-PRP) were prepared and injected into the reticular dermis (3-4 mm deep), in back-tracking for nasolabial folds and jaws, in fanning for the cheeks and in subcutaneous superficial deposits for eye circles, avoiding the region of the angle of the eye (risk of thrombosis when injected into the superficial vein of the angle of the eye).
II) mesotherapy: filling treatment is often associated with injections of 3 ml of liquid A-PRP in the papillary dermis (1.5-2 mm deep) with glaze technique for skin rejuvenation of face, neck and décolleté.
